

TANZI TRACT "Bully" #2

Norway Maple (Acer plantanoides)

Shade-tolerant, this tree out competes both sugar maple and beech trees (both native shade-tolerant hardwoods). Popular street and lawn tree, since it is both salt and compaction tolerant. The Tanzi population probably started when the sewer line was installed (1976), and became established with that disturbance. Seeds from older plants are now forming new plants in existing forest.

Large leaf, with 5 to 7 lobes, with U between lobes. Edge has many teeth. Stem is long. HAS DISTINCTIVE WHITE SAP.
