To: Norwich Selectboard,

I'd like to echo the comments made by Pam Harrison at the Public Forum last evening regarding Pete Webster's professionalism and expertise dealing with the state two years ago regarding Church Street. While the Selectboard was totally supportive of the neighborhood's wishes, it lacked the political know-how to do the job. The Board wisely gave the assignment over to the town manager, as it should have. Webster, pulled in our two state reps and the police chief, and got the job done. This is how town government should work. I'd also like to say during the time I served on the Norwich Conservation Commission, Webster was totally professional and helpful in all of our dealings.
